NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

FOR THE YEAR ENDED DECEMBER 31, 2001-

Note 1 - Summary of significant accounting policies

Description of business

Barry Murphy & Company, Inc. is engaged in the business of providing discount brokerage services. The Company does not directly hold accounts for its clients and operates on fully disclosed basis.

Accounting policies

The Company's policy is to prepare its financial statements on the basis of generally accepted accounting principles. This basis of accounting involves the application of accrual accounting; consequently, revenues and gains are recognized when earned and expenses and losses are recognized when incurred. Financial statement items are recorded at historical costs and often involve the utilization of estimates. Consequently, financial statement items do not necessarily represent current values.

The significant accounting policies utilized by the Company are described below:

Use of estimates

The process of preparing financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires the use of estimates and assumptions regarding certain types of assets, liabilities, revenues and expenses. Such estimates primarily relate to unsettled transactions and events as of the date of the financial statements. Accordingly, upon settlement, actual results may differ from estimated amounts.

Clearing agreements

The Company has a clearing agreement with National Financial Services, LLC, whereby, National Financial Services, LLC clears transactions for Company customers and carries the accounts of such customers on a fully disclosed basis as customers of National Financial Services, LLC. Accordingly, the Company does not carry customers' accounts and does not receive, deliver, hold cash or securities in connection with such transactions.

Security transactions and recognition of income

Security transactions and the recognition of related income and expense are recorded on a trade date basis.

Cash and cash equivalents

The Company has established a policy of defining cash equivalents as all highly liquid investments with a maturity of three months or less.

The Company maintains a $75,000 cash escrow as part of a clearing agreement with a financial services company and a $21,400 escrow held in a depository account with a regulatory agency for purposes of future registration requirements.

Note 1 - Summary of significant accounting policies - continued

Property and equipment and depreciation

Property and equipment are stated at cost. Depreciation is recorded on an accelerated and straight-line basis over the estimated useful lives of the assets for financial statement purposes.

Income taxes

Deferred income tax assets and liabilities arise from temporary differences between the financial reporting and tax basis of assets and liabilities that result in net taxable or deductible amounts in future periods. Deferred income taxes are classified as current or noncurrent, depending on the classifications of the assets and liabilities to which they are related. Deferred taxes arising from temporary differences that are not related to an asset or liability are classified as current or noncurrent depending on the periods in which the temporary differences are expected to reverse.

Net capital requirements

Pursuant to the net capital provisions of Rule 15c3-1 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, the Company is required to maintain a minimum net capital, as defined under such provision. Net capital and the related net capital ratio may fluctuate on a daily basis. The Company's net capital was $161,835, at December 31, 2001. The Company's net capital ratio was .72 to 1 at December 31, 2001, while the maximum allowable ratio is 15 to 1.

Note 2 - Related party transactions

The loan from the shareholder at December 31, 2000 consists of an 8% interest bearing loan, due on demand, which was paid in full during 2001.

Note 3 - Capital lease

The Company leases telephone equipment, computer systems and office equipment under capital leases. The leases require annual rentals through October 2005.

The Company is accounting for the lease transactions as purchases. Accordingly, the accompanying financial statements include:

- 1. The unpaid balance of the obligation under the capital lease, net of prepaid interest.
- 2. The fair value of the leased property as assets.
- 3. Charges to income:
 - a. Amortization, which amounted to $8,704 in 2001 and is included with depreciation expense.
 - b. Interest costs are calculated at rates ranging from 11% to 16%.

Note 3 - Capital lease, continued

The following is a schedule, by years, of future minimum lease payments under capital leases together with the present value of the minimum lease payments as of December 31, 2001.

| Year | Amount |
|--|-------------------------------------|
| 2002 2003 2004 2005 | $14,774 9,195 2,605 1,953 |
| Less: Amount representing interest expense | 28,527 (4,118) |
| Present value of minimum lease payments | $24,409 |

Note 4 - Income taxes

The provision for income taxes for the year ended December 31, 2001 is as follows:

| | 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 | | 2001 |
| Federal and state deferred tax: | | | $ 7,300 |

The Company has no current provision for income taxes for the year ended December 31, 2001 due to the utilization of prior year net operating loss carry forward's of approximately $16,500. The deferred provision for income taxes is due to differences between financial statement loss and taxable income primarily from certain expenses, which are not deductible for tax purposes and timing differences related to depreciation.

At December 31, 2001, the deferred tax asset and liability accounts consisted of the following components:

| Deferred tax assets: Net operating loss carryforwar | ·d | | 7,000 |
|---|----|--|------------------|
| Deferred tax liability: Depreciation | | | (7,600) |
| Net deferred tax liability: | | | $ (600) |

Note 5 - Commitment

The Company rents its office facilities under a noncancellable operating lease which expires in April 30, 2003. The lease provides in part for the payment of contingent rentals based upon the escalation of real estate taxes and certain operating expense on a prorata basis over a base year. Rental expense for leased premises during the years ended December 31, 2001 and 2000 was $62,851. Future lease commitments are $63,000 in 2002 and $21,000 in 2003.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

ON INTERNAL CONTROL

REQUIRED BY SEC RULE 17 A-5

To the Shareholder of Barry Murphy & Company, Inc. Boston, Massachusetts

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of Barry Murphy & Company, Inc. for the year ended December 31, 2001, we considered its internal control structure, including procedures for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal control structure.

Also, as required by Rule 17a-5 (g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission, we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by Barry Murphy & Company, Inc. that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in Rule 17a-5 (g), in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness and net capital under Rule 17a-3(a) (11) and the procedures for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of Rule 15c3-3. We did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in making the quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications and comparisons, and the recordation of differences required by Rule 17a-13 or in complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, because the Company does not carry security accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining an internal control structure and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of internal control structure policies and procedures and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the Commission's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of an internal control structure and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

To the Shareholder of Barry Murphy & Company, Inc.

Because of inherent limitations in any internal control structure or the practices and procedures referred to above, errors or irregularities may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

Our consideration of the internal control structure would not necessarily disclose all matters in the internal control structure that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control structure elements does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that errors or irregularities in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving the internal control structure, including procedures for safeguarding securities, that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the Commission to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2001, to meet the Commission's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the use of management, the securities and exchange commission, the New York Stock Exchange and other regulatory agencies which rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and should not be used for any other purpose.
